

Find Glamour Excitement and Hard Work on a Cruise Ship

Wanna exciting career in your life? Then, Choose the cruise line industry, which might be perfect place for you. Work on a cruise ship is really a Herculean task but it is enjoyable work.

Work on a Cruise Ship

Wanna exciting career in your life? Then, Choose the cruise line industry, which might be perfect place for you. Work on a cruise ship is really a Herculean task but it is enjoyable work. Some of the crewmembers are absolutely addicted to this lifestyle. Here you can get enough info on what is in this glamorous job.

Benefits of working on a cruise ship

You can travel all parts of the world at free of cost. Mostly crewmembers are signed contract for four to twelve months. During this period, the cruise ship usually changes its journey at least once to sail to different parts of the globe.

Crewmember receive his daily food and boarding at no cost while working on a cruise ship. There is no commuting to work – no traffic jams and no need to fill gas for your vehicle. More over, the attractive feature of work on a cruise ship is the wages you are being paid. This money is completely tax-free since you're paid in international waters and also this a real savings in your life...

Crewmembers have been exposed to different kinds of people in the cruise because the crew ship industry employs their personnel from different parts of the world. Hence each and every crewmember is having the opportunity to have a relationship with different kinds of the people with different culture but with long lasting effect.

Drawbacks of working on a cruise ship

As we know very well that all good things are having bad side. This holds good for work on a cruise ship also! Since there are few crew members in a ship at any given time, most crewmembers have multi-various jobs within the cruise in addition to their main job, which will takes away a lot of their free time and also they found little or no time to visit the ports the ship halts.

Some of the crewmembers have fallen to homesickness as they were away from their family and friends for a minimum period of four months long. In addition to this these crewmembers are living in a brand-new environment away from their native. In nutshell, the homesickness causes some of the crew members to break their contract within couple of months.

The crewmembers have to follow the rules and regulations strictly while traveling. Hence most of them can't sip a little quantity of beer or wine, as they would have been allotted a responsible job or emergency duty. Although rules and regulations are totally sensible, most of the crewmembers find that it is extremely hard to adhere.

As bottom line, we can conclude that work on a cruise ship is not an easy job, but it is surely one of the most glamorous and exciting jobs available. In other words, whom else will you pay like this to see and travel around this world?